Please watch my minidocumentary which is being posted to YouTube. If you can't bear to watch then at least check the link in the article and put in a vote for me. It will help me get the chance to go away for the next day and a half to two weeks - maybe less. At the moment I'm worried that I might not get in as I have too many things to do before I go but I will be doing my best to beat the system. The voting won't take very long. I just need to collect 4,000 votes so that the YouTube video can go live. The voting screen will have some nice graphics on it. The voting page is open now and I'm hoping that my decision not to take part in the election for the next board will mean that I do get a spot. Then I can go and give them my best shot and they can use the extra time to be nice to me. If not I'll go away for a few days to a week to come back and tell them how I feel and I hope that it will be ok. I will try to have

Windows 8 Activator is the best and effective Windows 8 Activator for your PC. It is a very safe way to update and activate your Windows 8 A: It is not a virus. It is just a program that was not officially signed. It was signed by a non Microsoft entity. The original author of the program contacted Microsoft and they removed the signature. If you do a search for "Win8 Activator" you will find all the different versions that are available. None of them are viruses. The original author of the program has now taken it down because he no longer wants to support it, but you can find it through other means. UPDATE The program now has another developer, "blakeymort" (Thanks @jimconley!) who has renamed the application to Windows 8 Activator and has now posted the source code on Github. This link is the download page for the original version: He has removed the original.exe and replaced it with a.zip file containing the original code, and now there is only one executable file that he has renamed to Win8Activator. 4bc0debe42
